Interior Design.

Maxwell Pickett, a third year Interior Design student at North Dakota State University in Fargo, ND, is a hardworking and dedicated individual. With every project, Maxwell gives the utmost detailed attention from the beginning schematic designs to the final design package presented to a client or classroom. Interested in all forms of design, Maxwell started his passion for design at a young age. Commercial Design is where Maxwell strives to move forward. Identifying problems and designing creative solutions along with assisting individuals through design is what powers Maxwell's passion. With inclusivity at the forefront of design, he aims to create and assist with designs so that all interior environments are universal. Having experience with many software programs, Maxwell also has hard and soft skills. The skills such as: Organization, Teamwork, Communication, Adaptability, Creativity, Multitasking, and a Hard Work-Ethic. He also has experience with: Microsoft Office Suite, AutoCAD, Revit, SketchUp, Enscape, Lumion, Adobe Suite, and Virtual Reality Technology. Aiming to be as versatile and adaptable as possible in a job setting, Maxwell is always curious about how he can help and impact a project. Along with school, Maxwell also is a design assistant for Monica Hart Interior Design in Fargo, ND.
